Profile

Collin uses his legal research and writing skills to serve a wide array of clients in both state and federal court. Whether its drafting motions or facilitating discovery, he provides a level of calm even in the most time-sensitive situations.

Although keen on thinking in the abstract, Collin is equally able to help articulate practical solutions and provide thoughtful analysis to every issue presented before him.

Collin also acquired an ability to skillfully navigate complex legal issues through his experience serving as a judicial intern with the Honorable Brenda K. Sannes, United States District Court Judge for the Northern District of New York.
