Profile

Josh works with his clients to identify and secure the best outcomes at the lowest cost possible. Now more than ever it is imperative for litigators to develop innovative, cost-effective solutions for their clients' disputes. Josh draws on his experience in all phases of litigation at the federal and state court level to do just that.

Josh represents a wide range of clients in a variety of industries in a diverse selection of litigation. He represents individuals and businesses large and small in general commercial litigation and in disputes involving medical malpractice claims. He also has experience with intellectual property and bankruptcy litigation. Additionally, Josh maintains an active pro bono practice in which he represents clients in commercial and civil rights litigation.

Before joining Bond, Schoeneck & King, Josh served for two years as a law clerk to the Honorable Frank P. Geraci, Jr., Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the Western District of New York.
