Profile

Lindsay advises clients on a wide range of issues and supports litigation matters through legal research, motion drafting and strategic case analysis. Lindsay brings a thoughtful, detail-driven approach shaped by her experience as a former summer associate at the firm.

Lindsay earned her J.D. from St. John's University School of Law and served on the St. John's Law Review, where she published her note Wake Up: How Application of Garcetti to Public Educator Speech Harms Educators and Students Through the Lens of Florida's Individual Freedom Act. During law school, she gained hands-on advocacy experience as a student attorney in the Child Advocacy Clinic and deepened her understanding of federal practice through a judicial internship with Magistrate Judge Lee G. Dunst in the Eastern District of New York.
