

Litigation

Overview

Our clients entrust their high-stakes legal matters to Bond's litigation practice because our approach is strategic, effective and efficient.

Bond's litigators have deftly handled sophisticated cases in federal and state courts and arbitral forums throughout the United States. Our lawyers represent a wide range of clients from Fortune 100 companies to individuals and small businesses serving diverse industries. Our exceptional wealth of experience and diversity ready us to assemble a lean and high-caliber litigation team to meet the specific needs of each particular matter.

With the end-game always in mind, we collaborate closely with our clients to craft and implement creative and successful strategies to reach the best and most cost effective resolutions as early as possible. And while we strive to reach favorable outcomes well before a case reaches trial, in those instances where it's best to try a case, Bond has a remarkable depth of courtroom experience to see the matter through in both trial and appellate courts.
