Why Choose Bond?

Prompt Attention and Proactive Counsel

We've repeatedly proved our dedication to client service over and over again, and our numerous office locations enable us to be close by and readily available – whatever suits your customers' needs, style and time frame. We understand the importance in letting your customers know that their deal, large or small, is getting the prompt attention they're looking for, and we respond promptly to your requests for service and counseling, and work constructively with your customers' counsel to foster a positive, teamwork approach to closing the deal.

Our proactive counsel is just that. We go all out to stay ahead of the curve in processing transactions and driving them to completion. How do we do this?

- We take immediate action putting together a checklist of closing requirements, a contact list and, if requested, a commitment letter to get the transaction under way and bring into play all the factors needed for a successful deal.
- We set up regularly scheduled conference calls to be sure all parties are apprised of the status of the transaction and resolve any issues that might be a roadblock to closing.
- We keep the deal moving forward by diligently circulating updated checklists as well as comments/questions on checklist items, and drafting and distributing draft loan documents in a timely manner, so you may assure your customers they are getting the proper attention and service they need.
- We work in a positive manner with all necessary parties from beginning to end, and close the deal. To use an old, but true, expression – it's a win-win – for both you and your customers.
