Protecting your intellectual property requires experience, depth and sophistication—hallmarks of Bond's Intellectual Property Practice.

Drawing on cutting-edge technical knowledge, and educational and industry credentials, our attorneys have helped clients obtain hundreds of patents and trademarks in recent years. Our attorneys have successfully litigated high-stakes IP technology cases and have amassed a considerable track record in IP licensing.

Bond's IP group represents clients nationwide, including Fortune 100 companies, high-tech start-ups, service-oriented businesses, manufacturers, financial institutions and major universities and research organizations.

Our Core Service Areas Include:

- Patent and Trademark Portfolio Development. We routinely handle patent and trademark protection proceedings before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. We also work internationally through our network of associates and the Patent Cooperation Treaty.
- Patent and Intellectual Property Litigation. We handle complex, high-stakes technology cases involving patent, copyright, trademark, trade secret and unfair-competition matters. Our attorneys have litigated IP cases in courts nationwide, including federal courts in California, Delaware, Illinois, Minnesota and Texas, and before the International Trade Commission in Washington, D.C.
- Patent Post-Grant Proceedings. We represent patent holders and third-party requesters in both inter partes review and ex parte reexaminations. We handle all procedural aspects of post-grant proceedings and advise clients on litigation strategies involving such proceedings.
- Intellectual Property Studies and Opinions. We regularly assist on freedom-to-operate and clearance studies and opinions, as well as infringement and validity studies and opinions.
- Technology Transfer and Licensing. For clients in the commercial, academic, nonprofit and government sectors, we negotiate and draft protection for IP rights, including patent, trademark, trade secret, copyright and technology know-how.
